	2013-14	2012-13	2013-14	2012-13	2013-14	2012-13	2013-14	2012-13
No of days crushed	135	202	262	272	--	37	156	245

The expansion of crushing capacity from 2500 TCD to 3600 TCD in the sugar factory at Kunthur Village Karnataka is nearing completion and the factory is expected to commence its operation before September 2014.

Increase in sugarcane cost coupled with unfavorable sugar price have resulted in loss in sugar segment.

Management Discussion and Analysis Report

Overview

The Company has two sugar mills in Tamilnadu and two sugar mills in Karnataka with the aggregate sugarcane crushing capacity of 19000 TCD. The company has also set up co-generation plants and windmills with the aggregate installed capacity of 93.55 MW. The company has also two Distillery units one in Tamilnadu and the other in Karnataka with the aggregate installed capacity of 127.50 KLPD. It has one of the most modern granite processing facilities at Sathyamangalam and quarries in Tamilnadu. The company is also a producer of bio-compost in Tamilnadu and Karnataka.

In the sugar factory at Kunthur village Karnataka the crushing capacity is being expanded from 2500 TCD to 3600 TCD besides establishing a co-generation plant with an installed capacity of 20MW. The projects are expected to commence its operation before September 2014.

The company contributes substantially towards welfare of the society in the areas of Health, Sanitation, Irrigation, Education, Environment, Water Conservation, Livelihood Projects, etc through trusts established by the group.

World Sugar Scenario

Sugar is mostly produced from sugarcane while sugar beet also contributes for 20% of sugar production. India and Brazil are the leading producers of sugar from sugarcane while EU and US are the major producers of sugar from beet. Globally more than 123 countries are producing sugar and majority of sugar to the extent of 70% is consumed domestically and the rest is being traded. Sugar production has surpassed the consumption during the last four consecutive seasons. The global sugar production in 2013-14 indicates a marginally higher volume to the extent of 180.2 million tonnes as compared to 179.5 million tonnes in 2012-13. It is further expected that the global consumption will remain at 175.4 million tonnes in the sugar season 2014 - 15.

Though India stands first in sugar consumption and second in sugar production it does not play a dominant role in the global sugar trade. It is Brazil which dominates the world in sugar production and export while Thailand stands next to Brazil.

Indian Sugar Industry

In India the area under sugarcane cultivation is around 5.10 million hectares of land with an average yield of around 65 tonnes per hectare. Sugar industry is controlled by corporates and co-operatives. Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra are the leading sugar producers.

The sugar production in the country has witnessed mixed trends 24.4 million tonnes in 2010 -11, 26.3 million tonnes in 2011-12 and declined slightly to 25.1 million tonnes in 2012-13. During the current sugar season 2013-14 the production is expected to 25.3 million tonnes. Consequently during the last four years the production was higher than the domestic consumption resulting in surplus stock in past four years. The opening stock of sugar in 2014-15 sugar season will be around 7.8 million tonnes.

The sugar consumption has grown at an annual average rate of 2.5%. In spite of this the per capita consumption is only 20 kg which is very much less when compared to the global average of 24 kg. As a whole, the Indian population consumes 33% more sugar than EU and 60% more sugar than China which makes India the world's biggest consumer of sugar. The beverages and biscuit manufactures and other sweet makers in India consume around 65 % of sugar produced in the country and balance 35 % is actually consumed by the households. Ordinary house hold consumers will never be affected by market governed prices and the budget of household expenses may have an impact of less than 1%.

Sugarcane Pricing

The Fair and Remunerative Price (FRP) is fixed by the Central Government based on the recommendation of Commission of Agriculture Costs and Prices (CACPC) on all India basis every year before the sugar season starts. This FRP is a formula linked cane price that encourages higher productivity.

The FRP fixed by the Central Government for sugar season 2013-14 is Rs 210/- per qtl for a basic recovery of 9.5% and the corresponding FRP for 2012-13 was Rs 170/- per qtl. The Central Government has fixed Rs 220/- per qtl as the FRP for sugar season 2014-15. While fixing FRP, the CACP/Government of India take into consideration of revenue as well as the risk elements of the farmers.

The important recommendation of the Rangarajan Committee for establishing a link between the sugar price and its primary by-products (molasses and bagasse) has not been considered in the first phase of decontrol. Nowadays there is no correlation between sugar price and sugarcane price in India.

All over the world, the practice is to link the sugarcane price with the revenue realizations from the basic products of sugarcane like sugar, molasses, bagasse, press mud, etc. By following this practice we can have stability in cane price and sugar production by avoiding the cyclicity in sugar industry which is the biggest challenge to the industry, farmers and consumers.

Developments

In line with the suggestions put forth by the C Rangarajan Committee, the Cabinet Committee of Economic Affairs has cleared the proposal for partial decontrol of the sector in April 2013 and the Fiscal year 2013-14 was the first year of operation post decontrol.

The major development in the Indian Sugar Industry are:

- > 10% Levy obligation has been removed
- > Sugar release mechanism has been scrapped
- > Import duty was increased from 10% to 15%
- > Mandatory packing of sugar in gunny bag was reduced from 100% to 40% for the year from July 2012 to June 2013 and further reduced to 20% for the year from July 2013 to June 2014
- > State Government can decide the matters relating to reservation of cane area to the sugar mills and distance between mills etc.

Supportive measures

- > Interest subvention to the extent of 12% or actual rate whichever is less is provided under "Scheme for Extending Financial Assistance to Sugar Undertakings 2014"
- > A subsidy of Rs 3300/- per tonne for raw sugar production with the inbuilt provision to recalibrate the subsidy after every two months based on Dollar Rupee parity has been announced.

Cogeneration

The bagasse based cogeneration plant is one of the key contributors to renewable energy sources. The excess energy obtained from cogeneration plant after meeting the captive needs is exported to the Grid. The advantages in cogeneration are fuel diversity, carbon emission reduction, etc.

The total cogeneration capacity of the Indian Sugar Mills is to the extent of 5000 MW. As per MNRE database, the installed capacity of bagasse based cogeneration as on 31st October 2013 is 2393 MW.

Ethanol

India has the annual capacity to procure 2.5 billion litres of ethanol from the sugar industry. The demand for ethanol is around 0.6 billion litres per year to Chemical Industries, 1.1 billion litres per year by Potable Alcohol Industry and 1.0 billion litres per year by Oil Marketing Companies (OMCs). The ethanol-blending program introduced by the government which mandated 5% blending from June 2013 has created the demand. However, the OMCs has contracted only for just 0.6 billion litres which is very much short as against its procurement target of 1 billion litres for mandating 5% blending in the year 2013-14. The main reason for this short fall in the first year of procurement is pricing. It is expected that in the forthcoming years there would be better systems to co-ordinate between suppliers and buyers which will help the sugar industry in the coming years.

Regardless of the various benefits of the fuel ethanol, the State Governments continue to levy various taxes under the respective State Acts which varies from 4% to 12.5%. Apart from this, some exporting states levy export/import fees besides permit fee being charged in some States.

This practice of levying multiple taxes by the State Governments has totally negated the purposes for which the ethanol blending programme is mandated by the Central Government.

Sugar Industry In Karnataka

Karnataka plays a prominent role in Indian Sugar Industry. In 2012-2013 sugar season, the State crushed about 33.32 million tonnes of sugarcane with an average recovery of 10.40% compared to 34.75 million tonnes with an average recovery of 11.14% in 2011-2012 sugar season.

Based on the recommendation of Rangarajan Committee, the Government of Karnataka enacted Karnataka Sugarcane (Regulation of purchase and supply) Act 2013 under which Karnataka Sugar Control Board (KSCB) was constituted and given powers to fix sugarcane price.

The KSCB has fixed the sugarcane price of Rs 250/- per quintal (ex-field) in North Karnataka and Rs 250/- per quintal (ex-gate) in South Karnataka for the Sugar season 2013-14.

Karnataka being a surplus sugar producing state consumes only about 50% of the sugar produced and sell the rest to other states like Kolkata, Maharashtra, Kerala, etc. However, the selling sugar outside Karnataka is not beneficial to the Sugar mills because the huge transportation and freight charges reduce the realisation.

The consistent increase in sugarcane prices and the downward trend in sugar sales realisation has greatly affected the financial performance of the sugar factories in Karnataka.

Sugar Industry In Tamil Nadu

Next to Karnataka, Tamilnadu plays a dominant role in Nation's sugar production. In 2012-2013 sugar season, the state crushed about 21.46 million tonnes of sugarcane with an average recovery of 8.88% compared to 25.46 million tonnes with an average recovery of 9.35% in 2011-2012 sugar season. Repeated droughts significantly affect the cane availability, yield and recovery.

The State Advised Price (SAP) fixed by the State Government for the year 2013-2014 is Rs 2550/- per tonne (Last year Rs 2250/- per tonne) linked to 9.5% recovery. The transport Charges from farm to factory will be the scope of sugar mills.

Since such a high SAP is not backed by revenue realization, the private sector sugar mills have appealed for some incentives and other support from the State Government.

Bio Compost

Composting is a biological conversion of heterogeneous organic substrate under controlled conditions into a humus rich product. Our Bio compost unit has the facility to produce bio-compost from sugar industry waste (Press-mud) and distillery unit waste (Spent wash). The press-mud is inoculated with aerobic micro flora followed by spent wash spraying and finally converted into organic rich product called Bio-compost. Bio-super is the enriched form of bio-compost which has growth promoting agents. Both bio-compost and bio-super are organic manures and they also serve as soil improvers. It is a "Waste to Wealth" programme under Zero Discharge Environmental Management System.

Micro Nutrient Mixture

Farmers generally apply NPK (Nitrogen Phosphorous Potassium) fertilizers for their crops. Apart from NPK fertilizers, the crops need different kinds of micro nutrients for the healthy growth and better yield. The requirement of micro nutrients differs from crop to crop. In order to make up the micro nutrient deficiency we produce the micro nutrients and supply them to farmers based on the requirement of the crop.

Internal Control Systems and their adequacy

The Company has proper and effective internal control systems commensurate with its nature of business and the size of operations to ensure that all controls and procedures function satisfactorily at all times and all policies are duly complied with as required. These are considered adequate in reasonably safeguarding the assets against loss or misappropriation through unauthorized or unintended use.

SWOT Analysis

Strengths

- The Indian sugar industry is the second largest producer of sugar in the world after Brazil
- The industry pays over Rs 690 billion to farmers towards the purchase of raw materials
- Provides direct employment to over 0.5 million workers
- Provides raw material for a number of downstream industries
- Makes an annual contribution to the national exchequer of around Rs 2500 crores by way of excise duty
- India is the largest consumer of sugar in the world

Weakness

- The government still controls raw material pricing apart from other regulatory measures
- Lack of investment over the years led the industry to stick to conventional manufacturing processes
- Soil deterioration following an overuse of fertilisers
- Industry cyclicality

Opportunities

- High value by-products
- Potential to increase the productivity of sugarcane by up grading technology
- Mandatory 5% blending of ethanol

Threats

- Price controls make the industry loss-making
- Dependence on monsoon
- High input cost makes the industry uncompetitive
- Industry cyclicality

Outlook for sugar industry

Taking into account the medium and long-term forecasts and by considering past performance of the sugar industry it is expected that situation will remain very much cyclical and will depend on the national and international demand and supply conditions. Therefore the profitability of the sugar industry will be greatly depending on the international market.

With an estimated opening balance of sugar around 7.8 million tonnes in 2014-2015 sugar season the sugar production in India is expected to be at around 24.5 million tonnes. With higher sugarcane crop particularly in North Karnataka the sugar production in Karnataka is estimated to be at higher level. However due to drought conditions and lower rainfall in Tamilnadu the sugar production in Tamilnadu may fall further from the current year's production.

We wish to conclude that as an integrated sugar company your company is well poised to gainfully grow further in all spheres.
